Dear Orthodontic Team,

I know what you're thinking: "oh, another applicant." While that may be true, I hope this introduction gives you a sense of who I am beyond a CV. I bring energy, personality, and a genuine passion for orthodontics. I aim to provide positive vibes (and a little spice) to your office, while delivering exceptional patient care...and fair warning, my "New Yawk" accent may make an appearance from time to time.

My name is Dr. Jonathan Shiloah, and I am a third-year orthodontic resident at Montefiore Orthodontics, graduating in June 2026. As a born and raised New Yorker, I am deeply committed to building my career here and contributing to the community I know and love.

Growing up in a family of five children, each with very different personalities, helped shape who I am today. While my siblings express themselves through various creative outlets, I have found my creativity through orthodontics. I take pride in crafting beautiful, functional smiles and approaching each case with both precision and artistry.

Throughout my training, I have developed a strong clinical foundation and have had the opportunity to start the highest numbers of cases in my class, utilizing a wide range of treatment modalities. I am extremely dedicated to my work and consistently strive for excellence, always giving 110% to achieve the best possible outcomes for my patients.

Equally important to me is the patient experience. I am very personable and naturally connect with patients, supported by strong emotional intelligence that allows me to understand their concerns, build trust, and create a comfortable environment. I enjoy bringing humor into the office, making visits fun and engaging, while always maintaining professionalism and respect. I believe this balance helps patients feel at ease and excited about their treatment.

I am excited to begin this next chapter, to work in the real world, build meaningful connections, and join a team where I can continue to grow and thrive. I am confident that my training, work ethic, and personality would make me a valuable addition to your practice and help contribute to its continued success.

It would truly be an honor to meet you and learn more about your practice. Thank you very much for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Jonathan Shiloah, DDS
